DESIRABLE PHLOX

IN CHOOSING every addition to my Phlox list, I have been guided by the very evident preference of my patrons. Every variety now grown is a popular one, some enthusiastic growers writing back to tell of their success at the exhibitions, and satisfactory results in their gardens. For long season of bloom, striking effect in the border, and ease of culture, the Phlox has no equal among perennials. It is one of the specialties at Flowerdale, and there is never enough in all varieties to fill the orders. Some are bound to run short.

Prices, except where noted, 20c each; doz. $2.00.

Annie Cook, fine clear pink.

Antoine Mercie, soft rosy lilac.

Baron Von Dedem, beautiful scarlet.

Coquelicot, orange-red, crimson eye.

Elizabeth Campbell, very large salmon-pink, 30c.

Eclairer, very large deep plum.

Europa, very large white, carmine eye.

Frau Anth Buchner, extra good white.

Floating Bridge, deep rose.

Joan of Arc, very late white, good.

Miss Lingard, earliest white.

Mrs. Jenkins, midseason white.

Richard Wallace, late white, violet eye.

Pantheon, dark rose, carmine eye.

Phlox Subulata, Moss Pink, lilac-pink.

Fireglow, very large, bright fire-red, 30c.

Mia Ruys, very dwarf, deep green foliage, enormous panicles, pure white, 30c.

Rheinlander, very large, salmon-pink, carmine-red eye.

The Mahdi, dark violet, most striking, 30c.

Widar, clear violet, large white eye, fine.

Mixed Phlox, 15c; dozen, $1.50.

A NEW PHLOX.—I am introducing this year a new Phlox—Blushes—a striking and much-admired seedling grown by Miss A. Thompson, Victoria County. Its name describes it very well. It has a white ground, delicately tinted pure pink. Its parent was Elizabeth Campbell, and the comment of all who have seen it is most favorable. Price this year, strong young roots, 50c.

Peonies

While these monarchs of the garden are the leading specialty here, there are 40 or 50 too many varieties being grown, to do justice to them all. This spring and fall I am going to make some special offers that should relieve crowding in the Peony field, helping me in that way, and helping my customers with lowered prices.

Remember, every variety grown is a good standard sort, so cannot fail to please. Choose the colors desired, red, pink, cream or white. I will select a good variety in the color wanted, and send strong, healthy roots that will give quick results.

Four strong divisions, named, (my choice) $1.00

Additional roots, any quantity, each25

Whole clumps, 3 to 5 years old, (my choice) each 1.00

Special Peony list on request.

Ten per cent discount on orders for 50 roots or more. This is just half value for the kind of roots I send.

Iris

THAT RIVAL THE FINEST ORCHIDS

About 100 carefully chosen varieties of Iris are grown on ground that is peculiarly adapted to produce fine healthy roots.

The field in early spring is a sight that brings throngs of visitors throughout their season, and they get the surprise of their lives when they see the gorgeous color combinations, exquisite tints and mass of bloom these wonderful plants produce. From August on till fall is the best time to move Iris, but they can be quite successfully planted in spring, the earlier the better. Special Iris list on application.

GLADIOLUS

I HAVE the following lots of fine Gladiolus and no place to plant them. I have priced them at what I think are very low figures for the entire lot of each variety. I will hold the lots intact until March 1, or until sold up to that time.

After March 1 I will sell single bulbs, dozens, or part lots while they last. No order filled for less than $1.00. Please make a second choice in case those wanted are sold.

Cacti and Succulents

From all parts of the world, my extensive stock of Cacti and succulents is gathered. From the deserts of the South, special collectors send in numerous shipments all summer, and European specialists send their rarest specimens to make my Cactus collection the finest that has ever been seen in Canada. It is also the most complete stock in America that is catalogued and offered for sale. Possibly only the Shaw gardens at St. Louis, Mo., can show a collection to compare with what we have here in Peterborough, and, of course, their great collection is not for sale.

My book, "Cacti, Succulents and Their Culture," is unique in America, gives cultural directions and lists and describes hundreds of varieties. Price is 25c, which can be deducted from first order of $1.00 or more.

SPECIALIZING

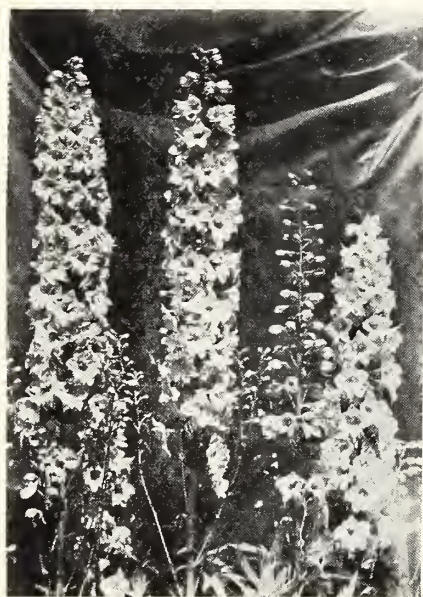

FOR several years, inclination, and circumstances have been leading up to a point where my specialties will require all my available ground, and time to care for them. A year ago all greenhouse space was given up to the growing of cacti and succulents, and is now full and double decked with the finest stock of these odd plants ever seen in Canada. Farther back than that the work of elimination began in the perennial field, and one variety after another was sold out and not renewed, their space being taken by the gradually increasing stocks of my favorites, the Peonies, Iris, Phlox and Delphiniums. As the collection of these four grand species grew, the world's best market being constantly searched for the finest strains, it became absolutely necessary, if the work of building up and improving was to go on, to discard a lot more very nice things, even my most select stock of Gladiolus being offered for disposal as quickly as it can be accomplished. I have 25 or 30 varieties of the very best of the hardy perennials that I hope to clear out completely this spring, and am making most attractive prices with that in view. Until I get more ground planted to Delphiniums and Phlox, my stock will still be somewhat limited, but another season should find me fully equipped to supply all demands.

CHOICE DELPHINIUMS

TO BUILD up my present really fine stock of Delphiniums was no easy task. The annual demand for this magnificent flower was so great that sometimes I found myself with only a few hundred plants left, and many seasons I had to refuse to dig another root, even with my good friends begging for "just a dozen" more. Year after year I sent to the world's best source of supply, and obtained seed or plants from Oregon, California's best growers (Burbank included), England, France and Holland. Every specialist I could locate made his donation to my collection, until now I have a few thousand plants ready for the gardens of those who want quality of bloom and who appreciate what the specialist is doing to produce such splendid results. I have no named varieties and in the general run of the beds cannot even tell dark from light colors. My plants are hybrids, some dark with light eyes, some pale sky-blue with pinkish centers, some enormous singles in all shades of blue from almost white to deep purplish blue. I am very proud of my Delphiniums, and my patrons are too when they bloom in their own borders.

Price for plants as they come in the row, each 25c.

A few hundred selected plants that bloomed last season, bearing flowers equal to or better than any named varieties I have yet seen. Each, 50c.

Frau Karl Druschki (H.P.), white.
Ulrich Brunner (H.P.), cherry-red.
Mrs. John Laing (H.P.), soft pink.
Moss Rose, red.
Moss Rose, pink.
Moss Rose, white.

Hardy Roses

I HANDLE a few choice roses every year, always being careful to offer only well-tried varieties, that stand our Canadian winters well, and have a long period of bloom to make them the joy of the garden. This year I can offer the following:

Price, each 50c.

George Dickson (H.T.), blackish crimson.

Gorgeous (H.T.), orange-yellow.

H. V. Machin (H.T.), big scarlet-crimson.

William F. Dreer (H.T.), coral-red.

L. C. Breslau (H.T.), terra cotta.

Lady Hillingdon (H. T.), apricot-yellow.

La France (H.T.), bright pink.

Crimson Rambler, old favorite climber.

Flower of Fairfield, everblooming crimson rambler.

Price, each 50c.

Some un-named roses with labels lost—can't tell colors, some baby rambles, each, 25c.

HARDY PERENNIALS

TO GIVE my four garden specialties the room needed for proper development, and to contain stock in sufficient quantity to supply the growing demand, I am this year disposing of the bulk of my well-known high-quality plants at sacrifice prices to affect an immediate clean-up of the ground.
